EDUCATION

University of Central Florida, Orlando FL Expected: August 2027

F31 Ruth L. Kirchstein National Research Service Award Individual Predoctoral Fellow

Doctoral Candidate of Clinical Psychology

Doctoral Dissertation: Applying harm reduction to Binge-Eating Disorder: An investigation of Protective Behavioral Strategies against uncontrolled eating

University of Central Florida, Orlando FL 2020 – 2022

Master of Science, Clinical Psychology

Master's Thesis: Loss of control eating predicted by distress tolerance, emotion regulation difficulties, and the expectancy that eating reduces negative affect

Princeton University, Princeton NJ 2011 – 2015

Bachelor of Arts, Psychology

Undergraduate Thesis: Dissatisfaction with specific body parts in relation to gender, social anxiety, and depression

AWARDS AND FUNDING

External Funding

- Dissertation Research Award, American Psychological Association 2025
- F31 Ruth L. Kirschstein Predoctoral Individual National Research Service Award, National Institutes of Health
Award Number: 1F31MH135713 Project Period: 2024 – 2026
- Student Research Award, Academy for Eating Disorders 2023

Internal Funding

- Doctoral Research Support Award, College of Graduate Studies, University of Central Florida 2025
- 5x Recipient Graduate Presentation Fellowship, College of Graduate Studies, University of Central Florida
2020 – 2026

CLINICAL PRACTICE EXPERIENCE

Teen POWER, Yale School of Medicine 2024 – 2025

Supervisor and Principal Investigator: Janet A. Lydecker, PhD, FAED

Research Practicum Student

Cognitive Behavioral Therapy for teens who have Bulimia Nervosa and Higher Weight [National Eating Disorders Association]

Description: A 16-week intervention study comparing two manualized treatments (CBT-based and Mindfulness-based) for adolescents with threshold or sub-threshold Bulimia Nervosa in the 85th BMI percentile or above. Responsibilities included:

- Providing clinical assessment using the Mini International Neuropsychiatric Interview (MINI), Eating Disorder Examination (EDE), Timeline Follow Back, and Columbia Suicide Severity Rating Scale (C-SSRS)
- Interpreting and scoring assessments

- Treating adolescent patients with manualized CBT-based or mindfulness protocols
- Writing clinical reports and progress notes
- Engaging in monthly parent-adolescent sessions to integrate parental support
- Engaging in weekly clinical supervision and grand rounds

Binge Eating Self-Help for Teens (BEST): A behavioral intervention for adolescents with binge eating and excess weight

Description: A 16-week CBT guided self-help paradigm for adolescents with threshold or sub-threshold Binge Eating Disorder in or above the 85th BMI percentile. Responsibilities included:

- Providing intake psychosocial interview and clinical assessment using the Mini International Neuropsychiatric Interview (MINI), Eating Disorder Examination (EDE), and Columbia Suicide Severity Rating Scale (C-SSRS)
- Interpreting and scoring assessments
- Creating intervention materials (e.g., intervention videos and tracking patient compliance)
- Treating adolescent patients with supported self-help protocols
- Writing clinical reports and progress notes
- Engaging in monthly parent-adolescent sessions to integrate parental support
- Engaging in weekly clinical supervision and grand rounds

The Renfrew Center

2023 – 2024

Supervisors: Christina Purkiss, LMHC, CEDS-S, Robert D. Dvorak, PhD, ABPPS

Student Psychotherapy Intern

Description: A joint partial hospitalization/ intensive outpatient setting utilizing a third-wave cognitive-behavioral orientation with integrated mindfulness. Responsibilities included:

- Treating adolescent and adult patients integrating evidence-based approaches (e.g., cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT), Exposure) across eating disorder pathology (individual therapy)
- Facilitating and providing therapy in group settings (e.g., values group, body image, CBT-based Unified Protocol, trauma group using CPT exercises)
- Providing meal support during meals and snacks in program
- Providing treatment planning and feedback to patients and families on progress
- Planning interventions
- Writing clinical reports and progress notes
- Engaging in weekly support-person sessions to integrate patient social support (family or couple)
- Engaging in weekly treatment team rounds for therapy, dietary, and psychiatric coordination
- Engaging in biweekly clinical supervision
- Providing and justifying care recommendations to insurance

University of Central Florida Student Health Services Behavioral Health

2022 – 2023

Supervisors: Michael Dunn, PhD, Megan Giddens, LCSW

Student Psychotherapy Intern

Description: A placement in university student health services for both mandated and self-referred college students with substance use disorders and comorbid disorders, informed by CBT and Interpersonal Processing orientations.

Responsibilities included:

- Administering intake psychosocial interview and assessments (e.g., Cannabis Use Disorder Identification Test, Alcohol Use Disorder Identification Test)
- Interpreting and scoring assessments
- Treating individual patients using third-wave CBT patients (e.g., CBT, Acceptance and Commitment Therapy (ACT), Exposure) across substance use and comorbid pathology (e.g., trauma disorders, mood disorders)

- Providing group psychoeducation on cannabis and alcohol use from a harm reduction lens
- Planning interventions
- Providing treatment planning and feedback to patients
- Writing clinical reports and progress notes
- Engaging in weekly clinical supervision

University of Central Florida Psychology Clinic

2021 – 2023

Supervisors: Kimberly Kent, PhD, Robert D. Dvorak, PhD, ABPPS

Graduate Student Therapist

Description: An outpatient training clinic serving a diverse adult community population informed by a CBT orientation, with integration of Dialectical Behavior Therapy (DBT), ACT, and Motivational Interviewing. Responsibilities included:

- Administering intake psychosocial interview and diagnostic assessments (e.g., Structured Clinical Interview for DSM-5, Anxiety Disorder Interview Schedule, Yale-Brown Obsessive Compulsive Scale)
- Administering cognitive and academic performance assessments (e.g., Weschler Adult Intelligence Scale-IV, Wide Range Achievement Test-5)
- Administering personality assessments (e.g., Personality Assessment Inventory, Millon Clinical Multiaxial Inventory-IV)
- Administering and tracking weekly self-report assessments (e.g., Patient Health Questionnaire-9, Generalized Anxiety Disorder-7)
- Interpreting and scoring assessments
- Planning interventions
- Treating individual patients using evidence-based treatments (e.g., CBT, ACT, DBT, MI, Exposure) across diagnostic categories, primarily mood disorders and anxiety disorders
- Writing clinical reports and progress notes
- Engaging in biweekly clinical supervision

TMS Solutions

2017 – 2018

Supervisor: Robert Sammons, MD

Transcranial Magnetic Stimulation (TMS) Coordinator

Description: Provision of cortical mapping and daily TMS treatment and administration in an out-patient TMS clinic treating Major Depressive Disorder. Responsibilities included:

- Providing supervised cortical mapping for TMS treating
- Administering daily prescribed TMS
- Coordinating insurance coverage and other office administration tasks

Medical Center of Aurora Adult Behavioral Unit

2016 – 2017

Supervisor: Carrie Pink, RN

Psychiatric Technician

Description: Patient care for adults on an acute psychiatric unit with a diverse presentation of severe mental illness.

Responsibilities included:

- Planning and facilitating therapeutic groups
- Providing crisis management
- Providing patient observation
- Providing general patient care and support (e.g., taking vitals, coordinating meals)

CLINICAL RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Risk, Eating, & Addiction Longitudinally Examined Through In situ Momentary Experiences Laboratory

2020 - Present

University of Central Florida

Director: Robert D. Dvorak, Ph.D.

Doctoral Student of Clinical Psychology

Applying Harm Reduction to Binge Eating Disorder: An Investigation of Protective Behavioral Strategies Against Uncontrolled Eating [1F31MH135713; APA Dissertation Research Award; University of Central Florida Dissertation Support Award]

Project Dates: 2024 - 2026

PI: Emily K. Burr, M.S.

Sponsor: Robert D. Dvorak, Ph.D.

Co-Sponsors: Stephen Wonderlich, Ph.D., Lauren Schaefer, Ph.D.

Description: A three-phase mixed-methods measure development project to identify items for, create a measure of protective behavioral strategies against binge eating and validate and apply items in ecological momentary assessment format. Responsibilities included:

- Developing the project and applying for grant support
- Developing and administering qualitative and quantitative interviews
- Administering, interpreting, and scoring psychological assessments (SCID-5 & MINI)
- Analyzing qualitative and quantitative data
- Developing and designing study materials, including protocols
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Monitoring daily compliance in ecological momentary assessment phase
- Training study support staff

An Investigation of Real-Time Cognitive and Affective Contributors to Loss-of-Control Eating [Academy for Eating Disorders 2023 Student Research Award]

Project Dates: 2022 - 2023

PI: Emily K. Burr, M.S.

Faculty Mentor: Robert D. Dvorak, Ph.D.

Description: A two-phase ecological momentary assessment study probing real-time reward and affective factors as they influence risk of loss-of-control (LOC) eating behavior in individuals with recurrent LOC. Responsibilities included:

- Developing the project and applying for grant support
- Developing and administering qualitative and quantitative interviews
- Administering, interpreting, and scoring psychological assessments (SCID-5)
- Analyzing quantitative data
- Developing and designing study materials, including protocols
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Monitoring daily compliance in ecological momentary assessment phase
- Training study support staff

Assessment of the Relationship between Personality Factors, Eating Behavior, and Emotions in College Students

Project Dates: 2021

PI: Emily K. Burr, M.S.

Co-Investigator: Matthew P. Kramer, Ph.D.

Faculty Mentor: Robert D. Dvorak, Ph.D.

Description: A two-phase cross-sectional study investigating the relationship between narcissistic traits, emotion dysregulation, and loss-of-control eating and body image outcomes in college students, stratified by gender.

Responsibilities included:

- Developing the project
- Analyzing quantitative data
- Developing and designing study materials, including protocols and recruitment materials
- Coordinating and recruiting participants

Mood and Eating Behavior during the COVID-19 Epidemic: An Investigation in Two Parts

PI: Emily K. Burr, M. S.

Project Dates: 2020 - 2021

Faculty Mentor: Robert D. Dvorak, Ph.D.

Description: A two-phase daily diary study probing real-time expectancies, motives, and affect as they influence risk of loss-of-control (LOC) eating behavior in individuals with recurrent LOC during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Responsibilities included:

- Developing the project
- Analyzing quantitative data
- Developing and designing study materials, including protocols and recruitment materials
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Monitoring compliance in daily diary design

Restriction, Restraint, Mood, and Loss of Control Eating in Real Time

PI: Robert D. Dvorak, Ph.D.

Project Dates: 2018 - 2021

Co-Investigators: Brittney L. Stevenson, Ph.D., Emily K. Burr, M.S.

Description: A ten-day ecological momentary assessment study on affective factors leading to fluctuations in restrictive and LOC eating in college students. Responsibilities included:

- Administering psychological assessment (SCID-5)
- Analyzing quantitative data
- Coordinating and recruiting participants

An Investigation of the Expectancies Correlated with Alcohol Use and Eating Behavior

PI: Gabrielle Lynch, M.S.

Project Dates: 2023 - 2024

Co-Investigators: Emily K. Burr, M.S., Mark Crisafulli, Ph. D., Tatiana Magri, M.S.

Faculty Mentor: Robert D. Dvorak, Ph.D.

Description: A cross-sectional study aimed to identify expectancy profiles of college students intersecting on pathological eating behavior and alcohol use. Responsibilities included:

- Developing the project
- Developing and designing study materials, including protocols and recruitment materials
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Monitoring daily compliance in ecological momentary assessment phase

An Adaptive Mobile Intervention to Increase Safe Drinking Strategies using Deviance Regulation Theory

[1R15AA026420-01A1]

Project Dates: 2021 - 2024

PI: Robert D. Dvorak, Ph. D.

Graduate Research Assistant: Emily K. Burr, M.S.

Description: A three-phase intervention study comparing a deviance regulation intervention to Brief Alcohol Screening and Intervention for College Students (BASICS) in university students with problematic drinking via ecological momentary assessment post-intervention. Responsibilities included:

- Administering, interpreting, and scoring psychological assessments (MINI)
- Administering three single-session preventative interventions: BASICS, deviance regulation, deviance regulation + BASICS

The Obesity Society

2023 – 2024

Director: Anthony C. Comuzzie, PhD, FTOS

Graduate Research Assistant

Refining and Testing the “FORWARD” Obesity Curriculum Project in a QI Initiative in US Medical Schools [Novo Nordisk, Inc.]

PI: Robert F. Kushner, M.D.

Description: A study assessing implementation and feasibility of a program to improve obesity education in ten US medical schools to changes in attitudes/ weight stigma, knowledge, and proficiency in the conceptualization of patients. Responsibilities included:

- Aiding in measure development
- Providing quantitative data analysis
- Engaging in monthly progress meetings

Sanford Center for Biobehavioral Research
Sanford Research

Summer 2022

Director: Stephen Wonderlich, Ph.D.

Clinical Research Specialist

Reward Mechanisms of Binge Eating Disorder

PI: Glen Forester, Ph.D.

Description: A two-phase ecological momentary assessment also utilizing EEG to compare differences in reward processing between individuals with Binge-Eating Disorder and healthy controls from the general population.

Responsibilities included:

- Administering, interpreting, and scoring psychological assessments (MINI, C-SSRS, and EDE)
- Analyzing quantitative data
- Running participants through study procedures
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Providing telephone assessment to potential participants
- Monitoring daily compliance in ecological momentary assessment phase

A Longitudinal Examination of Reward, Eating Expectancies, and Inhibitory Control in the Progression of Loss of Control Eating [NIGMH 5P20GM134969-8455]

PI: Lauren Schaefer, Ph.D.

Description: A longitudinal project assessing cognitive and reward processes in individuals with Binge-Eating Disorder. Responsibilities included:

- Administrating, interpreting, and scoring psychological assessment (EDE, SCID-5)

Momentary Bio-Behavioral Predictors of Loss of Control Eating and Weight Outcomes [NIGMH 5P20GM134969-8457]

PI: Gail Kerver, Ph.D.

Description: An intensive longitudinal study on patients post-bariatric surgery and factors that may contribute to uncontrolled eating following bariatric procedures. Responsibilities included:

- Administrating, interpreting, and scoring psychological assessment (EDE-Bariatric Surgery Version, SCID-5)

Rutgers Emotion, Health and Behavior Laboratory

2018 - 2020

Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey

Director: Samantha G. Farris, Ph.D.

Laboratory Manager & Research Project Coordinator

Daily-Level Analysis of Ovarian Hormones, Smoking, and Anxiety [R21-DA045182]

PI: Teresa M. Leyro, Ph.D.

Co-PI: Samantha G. Farris, Ph.D.

Description: A two-phase intensive longitudinal study, including saliva assays, daily surveys and physical activity monitoring, of fluctuations in hormones, anxiety symptoms, and smoking behavior in females who smoke cigarettes over their menstrual cycle. Responsibilities included:

- Creating study materials, including protocols and recruitment materials
- Administering, interpreting, and scoring psychological assessments (MINI, Timeline Follow Back)
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Monitoring daily compliance in ecological momentary assessment
- Programming ecological surveys
- Collecting and storing saliva assays
- Training study support staff

Qualitative Feedback Informing Development of the Exercise Sensations and Avoidance Scale

PI: Samantha G. Farris, Ph.D.

Description: A qualitative interview study designed to assess feasibility and appropriateness of a developed questionnaire on physical symptoms leading to exercise aversion. Responsibilities included:

- Creating study materials, including protocols and recruitment materials
- Administering qualitative interviews
- Analyzing qualitative data
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Training study support staff

A COVID-19 Survey: Perceptions on Health, Well-Being, and Daily Living

Description: A multi-site survey development and cross-sectional data collection study on general population quality-of-life concerns early in the COVID-19 pandemic. Responsibilities included:

- Creating study materials, including protocols
- Programming surveys hosted on Amazon Mechanical Turk
- Coordinating and recruiting participants

Reducing Fear of Body Sensations and Exercise Avoidance in Cardiac Rehabilitation [Rutgers Busch Biomedical Research Seed Grant]

Description: Development and assessment of a manualized intervention for patients in cardiac rehabilitation to encourage exercise and reduce anxiety towards physical activity. Responsibilities included:

- Creating study materials, including protocols and intervention manuals

- Researching and procuring equipment
- Coordinating and recruiting participants

Measure Validation of the Exercise Sensitivity Questionnaire for Cardiac Rehabilitation [Rutgers Busch Biomedical Research Seed Grant]

Description: A measure validation study to apply the Exercise Sensitivity Questionnaire as a tool for assessing aversion to physical activity in cardiac rehabilitation patients. Responsibilities included:

- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Consenting participants and administering self-report surveys

Positive Emotion and Psychopathology Laboratory
University of Colorado Boulder
Director: June Gruber, Ph.D.

2016–2018

Research Assistant

Longitudinal Study of Mania Risk in Young Adults
PI: June Gruber, Ph.D.

Description: A three-year longitudinal design observing affect regulation vulnerabilities associated with Bipolar I development in young adults at elevated risk, utilizing laboratory tasks, behavioral, and physiological measures. Responsibilities included:

- Analyzing physiological data (heart rate, skin conductance, respiration)
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Providing telephone assessment to potential participants

Positive Emotional Processes, Mood, and Anxiety
PI: June Gruber, Ph.D.

Description: A study designed to assess current mood states as they pertain to emotional and physiological reactivity in four adult cohorts: those with Bipolar I, Major Depressive Disorder, Anxiety Disorders, and no psychiatric history. Responsibilities included:

- Running participants through study procedures
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
- Providing telephone assessment to potential participants

Desire of Emotions: Emotional Cravings and Well-Being
PI: June Gruber, Ph.D.

Description: A laboratory-based investigation of drive toward rewarding emotions based on craving using behavioral tasks. Responsibilities included:

- Running participants through experiment protocols
- Coordinating and recruiting participants

Adult Anxiety Clinic of Temple
Temple University
Director: Richard Heimberg, Ph.D.

Summer 2015

Research Assistant

Examination of Social Anxiety, Body Mass Index, Weight Stigma, and Peer Rejection
PI: Sima Kaplan, B.A.

Description: A laboratory-based study examining the correlates of BMI, weight stigma, and perceptions of peer rejection as they may coalesce into social anxiety. Responsibilities included:

- Running participants through experiment protocols
- Coordinating and recruiting participants
